State Elephants Exhibited In India to German Crown Prince

WHEN it comes to pomp and ceremony some of the native princes of India have a great advantage over the European potentates. For instance, an elephant is an imposing spectacle when wearing only his dignity. Cover him with gaudy trappings, gold lace and braid, spangles, velvet and jewels, and he becomes truly magnificent. When Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany recently visited India great attention was paid to him, and at Allahabad a historic pageant was arranged in his honor. The picture above shows some of the richly caparisoned elephants that took part in the parade and made a tolerably successful effort at proving that the largest of quadrupeds is not behind the featherless bipeds in "putting on style." Next year when King George goes to Delhi to attend the durbar and be officially recognized as the emperor of India there will be another parade in which elephants will play a prominent part, and it is possible that the animals pictured above will walk with stately tread before the British ruler.

IN A DREAM

Miner Who is Killed by Fall of Slate is Forewarned of His Death.

The funeral of Charles Joseph, an Armenian miner, who was killed Saturday morning by a fall of slate in a Daniel Company mine at Mount Claf, was held Sunday afternoon. Services were conducted at the Warne Undertaking Company's chapel on West Main street, followed by burial in the Masonic cemetery.

A peculiar fact in connection with his death was the fact that he was forewarned of his impending fate. He told a companion Saturday morning that in a dream the night before a room had fallen in on him, and at 10 o'clock the premonition of his death was fulfilled. Fellow miners were occupied for four hours in digging the body out of the mass of slate. The deceased man is survived by a wife and three children, living in Turkey. He was 37 years of age.

BOTTLE PLANT

At Monticello Will Be Ready for Operation About October 1 Next.

Work on the bottle factory in the Monticello addition to the city will begin as soon as the present fires close in the glass business and the factory will be ready for operation about October 1 next. It is to be erected and operated by William G. and Joseph A. Neutzling, who have a bottle factory at Frenchton in Upshur county. About twenty-five skilled men will be employed. The Fuel City Oil and Gas Company has contracted to furnish the plant gas. Attorney Harry R. Downs, negotiated the deal by which the Messrs. Neutzling acquired the site, where the Monticello Brick Company's plant formerly was located.

WATER IN MILK

A little water in milk don't show you know, a good deal won't show you know that too. Three-quarters milk in your pan don't show. It's just as good as water and time is another. Our milkmen are honest, and their milk is rich with cream, that's only waiting a chance to get up on to, and say, "Good morning, I'm ready for breakfast." So is your paint if you paint Devoe. It wraps your house with a coat that keeps out weather and keeps in soundness. Go by the name. Williams-Common Milk Co.
